

I dream of...

I dream of a world where the dignity and best interest of others drives us more than our own comfort and ambitions.

I dream of a world where people are not just numbers, but each one important.

I dream of a world where we have the means to pick up, restore, help and guide others to not just better themselves, but to come to a place where they better others.

I dream of a world where Christianity is not just another label, but an assurance that we will be the ones to pick up the broken ones, to restore the hurting, to strengthen the weak, to point the way to Him as a total and absolute solution.

And I believe that world is possible. Lord help us to get there, one step and one day at a time...
