

Unique God conversations

I realized that the way God speaks to each of us becomes so second nature (well actually first nature) that we can easily start overlooking it, looking for 'bells and whistles', because it seems too easy to hear the way we do and our 'works mentality' mindsets tell us it has to be more difficult.

But God is nurturing a first nature communication in us, so it will be very natural. We must not look to how God speaks to others and desire that because we think that's more 'spiritual', we must thank God for the unique way He speaks to us and allow Him to make it more first nature in us day by day.
