

Vision - Break down religious mazes

In a vision I saw a maze in-front of me, and I knew the Throne Room of God was inside the maze.

The Holy Spirit spoke to me and said that we build these mazes - these barriers – by trying to reach God with formulas and methods instead of connecting to His heart in childlike faith.

Religion lets us think we need to take 5 steps right, 4 steps forward, 3 steps left, 10 steps right etc. etc. to reach God, and the more we fulfil these "rituals", the more we build up the walls around us, making the path deep and permanent.

But the problem is, these formulas and walls also keeps God out, not just us away.

I saw the walls coming down to ankle level, but God said "no, this will still block the flow from My Throne of quite a bit of Holy Spirit presence heading your way".

Then I saw the walls break down to ground level, and thought this was good, but God said "no, for the foundations block the underground flow, the things you do not even see nor understand that I want to deposit into your lives".

Then I saw the foundations dug out and replaced with good ground, then I could see the flow above ground in its fullness, and knew that below ground even more is flowing that I cannot see nor perceive, but that brings us to fullness and maturity in God.

God saw this full flow and to Him it was good.

End of vision.
